HARDING ASKS SENATE APPROVAL OF DISARMAMENT TREATIES

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—The treaties negotiated during the Washington conference were, said before the senate by President Harding today with a request that they be ratified as guarantees of peace.

Seven treaties were submitted by the president. The first was the five-power naval armament treaty, the second the submarine and poison gas treaty, the third the four-power Pacific treaty, the fourth and fifth were supplemental treaties to the four-power pact, and the other related respectively to the general Far Eastern situation and the Chinese tariff.

These engagements, the president said, were interwoven in a general scheme of peace and contained nothing which "commits the United States or any other power to any kind of an alliance, entanglement or involvement."

Referring to the unratified treaty of Versailles, Mr. Harding said it was drawn in response "to a manifest world hunger for better relations, and that the treaties submitted today were drawn in response to the same desire, but without any provision except 'to promote peace.'"

Reviewing briefly the situation in the Far East, the president declared that the conference by its Far Eastern agreement had dissipated all apprehension of territorial greed in that quarter and that senate ratification of the Far Eastern treaties "will stabilize a peace for the breaking of which there is not a shadow of reason or real excuse."

The five-power naval treaty, he continued, was in accordance with the expressed wish of congress as contained in recent legislation and would afford the first actual relief from naval burdens, which peoples have been able to acclaim since steam and steel combined to add to naval strength in warfare.

Referring to the senate's traditional opposition against entangling foreign commitments, Mr. Harding declared he had that in mind when he arranged that both Democrats and Republicans should be members of the

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—The secretary of the interior, Fall, took notice today of widespread rumors that he was planning to resign soon from the cabinet and made the following statement:

"Although I have received telegrams from newspapers in my own state and elsewhere inquiring as to these rumors, I am at a loss to account for them. I am not resigning. I have not the matter in contemplation and my official relationship, so far as I know, is entirely satisfactory. Nor have I received any offers from oil companies."

WASHINGTON, D. Deputy sheriffs and special town policemen were on duty, and there was no disorder of any kind.

Investigation of the strike was continued by representatives of Governor Davis and of the Ohio Commission of Industrial Relations, County and state officers again gave it as their opinion that troops would not be needed.

Goes Farther

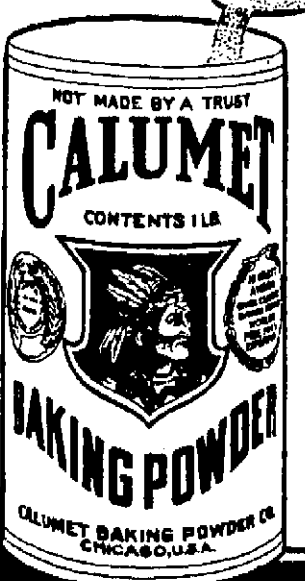

A can of Calumet Baking Powder will make more pies, cakes, biscuits, muffins, etc. than a can of most other brands.

It lasts longer—goes farther because it contains more than the ordinary leavening strength—therefore you use less.

When a recipe calls for two teaspoons of baking powder, use two level teaspoons of Calumet, the results will always be the same—perfectly raised bakings—remember this when you buy baking powder and don't forget that Calumet is the economic buy because it goes farther.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 oz. Some baking powders come in 12 oz. instead of 16 oz. cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

SHOCKER MAY BE PLACED ON MARKET

WASHINGTON, D.C., Feb. 10—It was reported here today that Nathan Shocker, the St. Louis pitcher, was on the market and the impression was that a four-cornered deal was brewing gained some headway. The conversation, however, failed to attain the proportions of anything more than a rumor, but it was emphasized that the deadlock involving New York, Chicago and Detroit would be broken only by the implication of another team.

Last fall Shocker deserted the Browns in a huff and at that time Phil Ball, the St. Louis owner, said that he would like to get rid of his star pitcher.

COURT HOUSE

Thomas Granted New Trial
 Thomas of the state to show by the degree of proof necessary in return to similar offenses was held by Judge Thomas as sufficient to warrant him in setting aside the verdict of the jury and granting a new trial today to Oscar E. Moore, former dry detective and real estate agent, recently convicted under an indictment for obtaining money under false pretenses from Mrs. Catherine Binder in connection with the transfer of an opium held on her property at 1020 Chillioube street held by Walter P. Yost, real estate agent and associate of Moore.

In his argument in support of the motion Attorney C. M. Searl also attacked the sufficiency of the indictment, claiming that the alleged crime charged is not an indictable offense and further contended that the state failed to show intent on the part of the accused to defraud.

The evidence adduced at the trial tended to show that Moore and Yost obtained $150 from Mrs. Binder by inducing her to buy back from Yost the option which he held on her property on the representations that Moore would buy her premises when she secured the option.

Yost was convicted and is now serving a term in the penitentiary for the part he took in the deal.

Given Another Chance

At a hearing in Juvenile court Friday, Corney Jones, 14 years old, was adjudged a delinquent and Judge Gilliland made him a ward of the court and gave him another chance on his promise to attend school regularly in the future and refrain from staying out late at night.

The lad, who is a son of A. B. Jones, 615 Seventh street, was found wandering in the North End at 2 a. m. the other morning by the police and locked up. The youth was armed with an air gun and explained he was hunting Indians. The boy evinced some evidence of mental trouble by his demeanor in court.

Unclaimed Costs and Monies

A list of unclaimed costs and monies remaining in his hands for a period of one year preceding the first Monday in January, 1922, was made public Friday by Sheriff E. F. Through Attorney Theo. K. Funk the wife complains that during a greater part of their married life Pitts has failed and refused to support her, declaring that before abandoning her he squandered his earnings in dissipation and associating with immoral people.

M. H. LUTZ, 1233 Gray Ave., Detroit

Hostetter advised Judge Thomas Friday that they had reached an agreement that Emory V. Carver, Offense street monument dealer, recently convicted by a jury of shooting with intent to wound Melvin C. Dixon, should be granted a new trial owing to the inability of the state to show by convincing proof the element of intent. The court indicated an inclination to concur in the agreement and ordered the defendant to appear Saturday morning when the motion will be disposed of. Under the arrangement, it was stated, Carver will be permitted to plead guilty to the lesser offense of assault and battery. Carver shot Dixon in the foot when he caught the latter in the company of Mrs. Lona Hughes in her home, Gallia and Glover streets on the night of Dec. 27 last, and the motive for the shooting was attributed to jealousy, but the gun user disclaimed all intention of killing or wounding Dixon, claiming that he merely fired to frighten him away.

Petition In Error Filed

A petition in error was filed in the Scioto county court of appeals Friday in the case of James Pfeiffer and others, plaintiffs in error, against New York Architectural Terra Cotta Company, defendant in error.

The petition recites that at the September term of Common Pleas court defendant in error recovered a judgment against plaintiffs in error and then points out alleged prejudicial error in the records and proceedings of the case and advancing seven reasons why it should be reversed.

The New York firm sued to recover on a claim for material furnished H. H. Kaps, sub-contractor, for use in the construction of the addition to the Garfield school building in 1920. Attorneys Blair and Blair and Miller and Searl for plaintiffs in error and Attorney E. G. Miller for the company.

Suit On Note

George F. Jacobs, Eleventh street butcher, brought suit in Common Pleas court Friday through Attorney Horace L. Small in which he seeks to recover judgment in the sum of $250 with interest from June 15, 1921, which he claims to be due on a promissory note from W. E. Beckman and C. A. Cambree.

Marriage Licenses

Do your feet give out in the afternoon?

PROBABLY there is nothing the matter with your feet, but soon after you put on your shoes, they begin to tire. Why? Nature planned the foot to have three points of contact with the ground — heel, ball and outside arch. But in raising the heel from the ground, the arch is left without a firm support. Your weight bearing down on the unsupported arch strains it.

ARCH PRESERVER SHOES
 The Arch Preserver Shoe raises the heel and arch from the ground, thus giving the foot the stylish appearance you desire; but unlike shoes with bending arches, it has a concealed built-in arch-bridge that supports the arch. Though shod in the latest fashion, your feet are free from strain all through the longest, hardest day when you wear Arch Preserver Shoes.

A meeting has been called for next Wednesday night to take the initial steps for the formation of a musical organization of this character. A number of musicians are included in the Grand Lodge society and no trouble will be experienced in recruiting a full-fledged band. The band committee includes Arthur Bode, Will Schilling and Will Zoltman.

Thirty members of the Home League attended the regular meeting held at the home of Mrs. Cornelia Trout-hart, 717 Seventh street yesterday afternoon. The program opened with a scripture reading by Mrs. S. S. Haldeman. Mrs. A. Kline gave the paper on "Our National Parks" in the place of Mrs. Lena Kline Reed.

The paper was made more interesting and instructive by the showing of various pictures of the National Park.

Members responded to roll call with the names of Indian Tribes. Miss Alice Padan delighted the members with several piano selections. In the place of Mrs. J. H. Pick, C. A. Zull gave the article on "Indian Trails and Legends."

An enjoyable affair of last night was the dinner given by members of the Merry Twelve Club for their husbands at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Staebler, 824 Sixth street.

Owing to the nearness of Valentine Day, the table was appropriately decorated with little red hearts. Tall rose candles formed the lighting effect, while a basket of varicolored flowers centered the table. Place cards and favors were in keeping with the color scheme. An elaborate dinner of roast chicken, dressing and gravy, mashed potatoes, slaw, olives, pickles, baked corn and coffee was served. Following the dinner the evening was spent with cards, after which the ice course of heart shaped ices and cakes was served.

Prizes for top scores were awarded to Mrs. Ellsworth Lammon and C. W. Brooks. The consolation prizes were given to Mrs. Ormsby Keselring and Ellsworth Lammon.

Those enjoying the evening were: Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Kochheiser, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. At five o'clock a dainty tea was served by the hostess. Guests for the afternoon in addition to the club members were, Mrs. George Taylor, Mrs. L. H. Goodman and Mrs. Joseph Quinn of Seabury, Me.

Fifty young people were the guests Thursday evening of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of the Second Presbyterian church at their social gathering in celebration of the 41st anniversary of the founding of Christian Endeavor.

The main feature of the evening's entertainment was a demonstration of his hypnotic powers by Mr. William Wylie Young, who sent several of the members into the land of dreams, and made them do all manner of peculiar things, in accordance with their several talents.

Ice cream and cake were served to the Christian Endeavorers and their

AN ADVANCE SHOWING OF SPRING COSTUMES

A vividness of color, a novelty of fabric, a special partiality for crepe frocks, for cape wraps, for shaggy-textured sport togs, an air of easy smartness, almost a nonchalance prevailing all, hint at the enchantment of new Spring creations collected from points far and wide. Choosing a Spring wardrobe from them will prove a pleasure.

SPRING 1922

Nothing, however, is ever too "Advance" for the young Misses—in fact the newer, the more novel, the better they like it—that is why they'll be especially thrilled by these "Just arrived" things for Spring. And there's so many refreshing touches to the new costumes you should see—why not do it tomorrow?

Adventures Of The Twins

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

It's a secret about the rain fairies

WHEN the Twins and Bunkins went to do was to turn a spigot and the left New Town, they once more boarded Spoutalong's magic train and were taken to another town in Midland called Rain Town.

"The rain fairies live here," explained Spoutalong and you will find that they are just as busy as the dew fairies."

But Nancy and Nick remembered the wonderful visit they had had with Mr. Sprinkle-Blow, the weatherman, up on his star and they had not forgotten how he kept all sorts of rain stored up in big barrels.

So they spoke of it now and asked what the rain fairies had to do with it.

"Oh, ha!" cried Spoutalong. "Did you think that all Sprinkle-Blow had Making tiny pains. Only as they had a wet journey ahead of them. They were dressed in swimming suits. Sprinkle-Blow had used up so much rain in spring showers, that his rain barrels were about empty and the little fairies would have to work hard to carry enough water from the rivers to the sky to last through the summer.

Alkali in Shampoos
Bad For Washing Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get Mulsified at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful of Mulsified is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.—Advertisement.

Sunday School Lesson

ELISHA AND THE SHUNAMITE WOMAN, TEXT SECOND KINGS
4:18-22, 30:32-35

REV. H. STEWART TILLES

INTRODUCTION: Several years have passed since the translation of Elisha. During this time many interesting things have taken place and God has been pleased to use his servant Elisha in a very marked way. The poisonous spring at Jericho has been healed, a company of irreverent idolaters cursed, the alliance of Jezebel and Jezebel's army broken, and victory over the Moabites has been promised and fulfilled, the widow's oil was multiplied, after which we find Elisha being entertained in the home of a hospitable woman of Shunam near Jericho. This woman of Shunam had been turned into a widow by the death of her husband, and a little room was added to this humble home for the prophet's own use. This couple were childless and as a reward for the great kindness shown him Elisha prophesied that a son should be born to them. This child of hope and promise brought great joy to her heart and won a great place in her affections. One day he went to the field where his father was gathering grain and was taken very ill. He was taken to his mother's bed and she held him in her arms until he died. She lay him on the bed of the man of God and in her distress she listened to him, through whom she had been blessed, and whose promise she had already tested. She had learned the secret of he was unsympathetic, "thrust her away." He lacked spiritual insight and thus failed to see a "vexed soul," but did not, however, things in her manner which he considered irregular and disorderly. The whole proceeding reveals that he was prayerless and powerless against the evil forces of Jezebel. He took the staff and there was no question about its being Elisha's but the spirit of the prophet was waiting for the staff of the Holy Ghost, to give life when the staff of His word is laid on the dead about us. Nothing short of this will produce a resurrection.

Secondly, Elisha or the victory of a living faith. First his heart was touched with sympathy on behalf of the sorrowing woman, vs. 37. In this he revealed the spirit of the Lord Jesus, touched with the feeling of our infirmities, but was, yet, without sin. Unless our hearts are moved with compassion by the crying needs of the lost we will accomplish little for him. Third, he was a man who made a personal consecration of himself, vs. 34. He went in and shut himself on the child. Fourth, he met with success, vs. 35. The child opened his eyes, when ever death comes in touch with the living power of the son of God there is sure to be a resurrection.

FOOD SOURD ON STOMACH AND RUINED HIS COMPLEXION

Indigestion Bled Him With Gases—Caused Belching

GOT QUICK RELIEF FROM HIS DRUGGIST

"My son had so much trouble with his stomach that I became right worried. He complained of the gases on his stomach, was in misery from belching after meals and his face would be just covered with pimples and boils. He needed something to relieve his stomach trouble and clear up his blood so our druggist sent up some tablets of pure Phos-Pho Vitamine.

They did him so much more good than the medicine. Countless numbers of people have gotten tablets of pure Phos-Pho Vitamine from the up-to-date drug stores and are now completely rid of stomach trouble. Just ask your own druggist about Phos-Pho Vitamine. Don't delay relief when you can get it so quickly and surely. The Phos-Pho Vitamine gave at such a trying cost. Phos-Pho Vitamine tablets from the nationally known Irving Laboratory are sold by all the better drug stores or get them conveniently on the way home from the drug store. Advertisements.

How Clubmen Keep Young

What is long supposed to have been a mythical fountain of youth was discovered to be a reality twelve years ago, and Rotary Clubs, Kiwanis, Chambers of Commerce, the Lions and similar business men's clubs have lately discovered it for themselves. This fountain of youth is service to boyhood. The Boy Scouts of America in the twelve years they have been with us have enrolled upwards of a half million men as leaders in one capacity or another. Among the best supporters of the Movement are these various business clubs, Chambers of Commerce and others. They are producing scoutmasters and council members and generous friends, and in many ways are giving substantial leadership all the time renewing their own youth by this enthusiastic interest in youth and service to boyhood. It may be said that one of the biggest contributions the Boy Scout Movement has made to America is in interesting such a great number of men in active leadership association with boys.

NO CASES OF FLU SAYS HEALTH OFFICER

Despite the fact that several cases of influenza have been reported in the city, Health Commissioner Dr. O. D. Tatje stated Friday that not a single case had been reported officially to him.

"I have heard that there were scattering cases in the city, but if this is true they have not been reported to me and I am inclined to believe that they are nothing more than severe attacks of grip," Dr. Tatje said today.

He says influenza is classed as a contagious disease and physicians are required by law to report these when positive that their patients have the flu.

WHAT'S THIS, MAN OVERTAKES "FLYER"

Roone Hale of New Boston says the slow trains through Arkansas have nothing on the slow trains through Kentucky.

He had been to Carter, Ky., and when the train got to Ruggles, Ky., he thought he would get off and "stretch himself," and before he could get back on, the train pulled out and left him standing on the platform. Roone, who is hale and hearty and only twenty-one years of age, decided that he would not let a little thing like a train put one over on him, so he decided to catch it. After running neck and neck for a while he finally reached the steps of the passenger coach and boarded the

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids.

Kidney and bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again. Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

Woodrow Wilson Foundation; What It Means

Relative to the Woodrow Wilson Foundation, which is being taken up by a fitting monument to a great man in an enthusiastic manner here the who himself almost gave his life in Columbus State Hospital Wednesday the heroic efforts to serve democracy said: The purpose of the projected Woodrow Wilson Foundation is to provide means for making awards from time to time for meritorious service to democracy, public welfare, liberal thought or just peace, somewhat on the plan of the Nobel prizes. It will be administered by a board of trustees composed of representative Americans and the jury of award will include the Americans believed by good judges to be most competent for such a task. Of course there will be no partisanship in the makeup of either the board or the jury. The amount to be raised is $1,000,000 and we note that in many places the full quotas have been subscribed. Franklin county's quota is $5,000 and the local committee is wisely conducting no drive for the sign desired but will be glad to accept voluntary contributions, large or small. We feel sure that $5,000 will be subscribed readily here for this good purpose without recourse to personal solicitation.

Martha Washington Club members were enjoyably entertained by Mrs. Frank Miller, Highland avenue yesterday afternoon. The time was spent playing five hundred, and at the close of the game the hostess assisted by her sister, Miss Marie Bertram served a dainty salad course.

The club adjourned to meet in two weeks with Mrs. Eugene Cridlton, Grant street.

Mrs. Nellie McConnell of Fourth street, left Friday for Cincinnati, where she will spend ten days with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Taggart, formerly of this city.

The table was arranged for the occasion, Valentine hearts and cut flowers being used in the decorations. An art basket of white chrysanthemums and white carnations centered the table and the place cards were red hearts. A delicious three course menu was served, and between the courses two clever Valentine poems were read, each guest reciting a verse. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in art needlework.

Mr. and Mrs. Weber went to the home of a neighbor to spend the evening and at the appointed time Mr. Weber was sent home on an errand and was surprised to find the house filled with friends and neighbors. The evening was spent in games and music and at a late hour a dainty ice course was served to the following:

CHILD FALLS IN TUB OF SCALDING WATER; DIES

After suffering untold agony for hours as the result of burns sustained all over her body Thursday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock when she fell backwards into a tub of scalding water, death this morning about 8 o'clock claimed Cloe, four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carter, 314 Third street.

The child had been left in the kitchen with an older sister, Nancy Clark, while the mother stepped in to the yard to hang up some clothes. The little girl must have fallen backwards into the tub of scalding water as the screams called the mother back into the kitchen a few seconds after she left the back door of her home.

The child's body was burned from head to foot and she suffered terrible pains until death claimed her this morning. The attending physician held out no hopes for the child after he learned the seriousness of her condition.

Heading of the death of the child, Municipal Judge Stanley McCall ordered the father, Harry Carter, released from the county jail, where he was serving out a fine for non-payment.

Besides the parents the child is survived by a baby sister and four brothers and half sisters, Isaac Carter, Arthur Clark, Hattie Clark and Nancy Clark.

The family has resided in the West End for some time. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

FESTIVAL SUCCESS; REPEATED TONIGHT

Joy reigned supreme at the opening of the Winter Festival in the Winter Garden, Gallia and Bond streets last evening.

The affair is given under the auspices of the Hospital Section of the Y. L. S. of Holy Redeemer church, and will close this evening. This afternoon several hundred children enjoyed the pleasures of the festival and this evening another large crowd is expected to be present. Davison's Winter Garden Orchestra furnished the music throughout the evening and the dancing floor was crowded with dancers all evening.

During the intermission the Krick or Trio sang several of the latest popular hits and they won the applause of the crowd at every appearance.

Card tables were arranged in the balcony and where 500 and more were played by those who did not care to dance. At the close of the games prizes were awarded for the highest scores. Mrs. Albert Sommerbeck received the first prize in the 500 game, and was presented with a pair of hand embroidered pillow cases. Mrs. John C. McMahon was awarded a pretty Kensington bag for receiving the highest number of points in the ending games. The gentlemen's prizes were won by Patrick Killeague and William Essman.

The many booths where refreshments and fancy wares were sold enjoyed a splendid patronage, and the opening night was a grand success in every way. A larger crowd than attended last night will be on hand to attend the closing of the festival this evening. The general public is invited to come and spend an enjoyable evening with their friends.

Mystery

The general manager of the Famous Players-Lasky studios, where Taylor was under a two year contract.
Taylor's Friends Examined
Others were Douglas MacLean, film actor, a neighbor of Taylor, and his wife and their maid; Henry Peavey, Taylor's negro servant; Howard Fellows, Taylor's chauffeur; Harry Fellows, the latter's brother, and formerly Taylor's chauffeur, and more recently his assistant director; Verne Dumas and Neil Harrington, oil operators, and neighbors of Taylor; Charles Maigne, a film director; Arthur Hott, an actor, and a close friend of Taylor, and Captain R. A. Robertson, who as an officer in the American army, said he had an over-seeing acquaintance with Taylor as an officer in the British army.

Movie Stars To Be Summoned
Rumor has it that Mary Miles Minter, for whom Taylor formerly was a director, also was enlisted with the district attorney for two hours last Tuesday, before Mr. Woolwine officially took charge of the inquiry, but there has been no confirmation of this. There has been no intimation as to who would be summoned before the district attorney today, but previous inquiries by the police into the case indicate that among the witnesses to be summoned eventually before the district attorney, will be included Miss Minter, Mabel Normand, whose letters to the dead director are now in the possession of the district attorney; Neva Gieber, said to have been engaged to marry Taylor at one time; Claire Windsor, who had recently dated and motored with him; Edna Purviance, formerly leading woman for Charles Chaplin and a neighbor of Taylor, who was said to have telephoned the news of the director's murder to Miss Normand, and a number of others more or less prominent in the motion picture colony.

Sheriff and Police Disagree
Meantime, the police search for Edward F. Sands, formerly butler-secretary for Taylor, continues, while the sheriff's deputies maintain their position that Sands had nothing to do with the crime.

Miss Normand In Seclusion
Miss Normand, one of the last persons to see Taylor alive, remained in seclusion at her home yesterday, recovering from the collapse she suffered at the director's funeral Tuesday.

At her home, however, a denial was issued of the reports that she had stated she had an altercation with Taylor on the night he was murdered. Her letters were the reported subject of the altercation.

Co-operating With Officials
Attorneys for Miss Minter declined to comment on her purported visit to the district attorney. One of them was quoted as having said: "I can only say that Mary Miles Minter is co-operating with the officials and is willing and ready to co-operate fully with them."

The police are credited in a newspaper story published today as stating they had learned the origin of the pistol with which Taylor was killed. No details are given.

JUST CHATTER

The plot thickens in the college football scandal.

Every day brings forth new developments of a most interesting nature.

The latest school to qualify is Nebraska. Two of the stars of the team have admitted charges of professionalism.

Swanson, who captained the 1921 eleven, and was one of the best ends in the country, has been found guilty. He is one of the best guards in the game, was the other offender.

Hardly had the news of Nebraska's part in the scandal died away, when Purdue made another entry into the affair.

Six Purdue players, according to the story, took part in a professional game after the close of the college season.

While new developments come thick and fast in the west, nothing has come out of the east. It doesn't seem possible that all the professionalism in college football is confined to the west.

One of these days the secret will break loose in one of the eastern institutions. When it does, things will happen. Money has just as much fascination east or west. The moral fiber of the college athlete in the east is no stronger than in the west.

For years the amateur in sport has been a joke. Possibly it will continue to be that way. College restrictions are so severe, they seem to invite deception on the part of the athletes.

Ever so often every sport needs a thorough cleansing. It seems that such a condition now exists in college athletics. Things had to break sooner or later. It is a good thing for the sport that Illinois and Notre Dame started a house cleaning.

Athletics in the colleges have developed into a big amusement enterprise. A readjustment of conditions is the only answer.

Selects Win One; Lose To Ironton

Last night in the Wheelersburg high school gym the Wheelersburg Selects won a 35 to 21 victory over the Ironton College of Business Selects. The first half was closely fought, the score at the end of this period being 12 to 7 in favor of the Selects. In the last half the Selects started playing hard just to see how many points they could make. The P. C. B. five did not seem able to stop the Selects, although a five man defense was used. The Selects shot a number of long baskets with the five man defense in front of the basket. O. Craycraft was the pointer of the evening, making 8 field baskets and a foul.

The Wheelersburg Selects lost a hard played game at Ironton Wednesday night to the high school faculty team of that village. The lineups and summary of last night's game:

Wheelersburg	P. C. B.
O. Craycraft	1st
Burke	2nd
K. Craycraft	3rd
Groh	4th
Hock	5th

Predicts Re-election Of Senator Pomerene On Record Constructive Statesmanship

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 10.—"Sentiment favorable to the reelection of Senator Pomerene is further advanced the first week in February, 1922, than it was the first week in September, 1916," according to the Senator's secretary, Arthur P. Black, who has returned from a week's visit in Ohio where he accompanied the Senator on his speaking trip which included Dayton, Lancaster, Zanesville and Cincinnati. The Senator made six speeches in the four cities, three at belated Jackson day banquets, and three before business men's organizations. He returned to Washington from Cincinnati early in the week, Black going to Columbus to meet organization leaders. "The trip was the most successful from every standpoint the Senator has made during the more than eleven years he has been in the Senate," said Black. "Everywhere he found Democratic workers enthusiastic and Republicans more friendly than ever before. Never did he find the Democratic party more united and the Republican party more disorganized. The Senator had on his fighting clothes in every speech and he instilled the fighting spirit into his friends." Black outlined his reasons for believing the Senator unbeatable in the following definite statement: "There never has been a time since the Senator entered public life that his party has been behind him so untruly and wholeheartedly. In 1916 there were many Democrats who believed the Senator did not have a chance in a public life to grow in cannot find a Democrat who holds that view. On the other hand nearly every Republican who met with him said the Senator will be reelected next November by a larger majority than he was in 1916. You cannot find a Republican who will not admit the Senator is many thousands of votes stronger than he was at any previous election when he was a candidate. The veteran newspaper men who in the past would hardly be classed as Pomerene men told me that in all their experience they never have known a man in public life to grow in the estimation of people generally as certainly as has Senator Pomerene during his second term in the Senate. "Every place we visited we found Republicans disappointed, disheartened, disgusted, because nearly a year after the Harding administration assumed full control of every branch of the Government conditions are worse instead of better. They are losing faith in the promises that prosperity is just around the corner, and are coming more and more to a realization of the fact economic conditions cannot be changed by political methods. They now know many campaign promises made by the Republican leaders during the campaign of 1920 cannot be redeemed. This has led them to doubt whether they were made with any thought they would be redeemed. The net result is that they were lunked, and they are resentful. They know, too, Senator Pomerene never has misled them by promising anything he could not and did not deliver. That fact is due to exert a tremendous influence in the coming campaign. "There is a conviction in the minds of voters in both the old parties that the one thing the United States Senate needs more than any other is more men of Senator Pomerene's type. For the good of the Senate and for the good of the people back home who are putting up the money to keep the wheels of government going round. One of the significant things about the Senator's Ohio visit last week was the unstinted praise heard on all sides for his fearless and courageous speech and action, in and out of the Senate, and his freedom from cant, hypocrisy and bombast. He has established for himself the reputation of never talking unless he has something to say, of being direct and straightforward in what he says and does, and of being controlled by reason and judgment whether or not it is for the moment the popular thing. In other words people believe Senator Pomerene is sincere, and in these days of wheedling and wheedling, hating and vacillating, promising one thing and doing another, on the part of so many men in positions of responsibility, sincerity is a priceless asset to any man in public life. "Another thing I learned on our trip is that Republicans who are willing to admit there may be some good in a Democrat are having a lot to say in the Senator's behalf because of his dependability. Time and time again they say to me something like this: 'We do not always agree with him, but we always know where he stands. When he promises to do or not to do something we know he can be depended upon to carry out his promise. One of the things we admire about him is that he cannot be swept off his feet by propaganda. The propaganda man who can bluff him has not yet been born. He cannot be lured off color even though by doing so he might for the moment strike the popular chord. He spurs political expediency. He reaches his own conclusions as the result of his own thinking, and then stands by them, regardless of political consequences. He is his own man.' "To me the most significant fact about the Senator's Ohio trip was the demands made upon his time by Republican business men who sought his counsel on important legislative matters. Practically all his spare time between speeches was taken up with conferences on the tariff, revenue legislation, the Federal Reserve banking system, and legislation for the relief of farmers. One of these business men whose name is known from coast to coast said to me: 'I do not agree with your Senator in party politics, but I have been following his course in the Senate, and more or less familiar with his record, and I appreciate the fact he is too big to play partisan politics with major legislative problems. There can be no question that because of this fact he occupies a strategic position. He has ability and initiative, is constructive in thought and action, is many thousands of votes stronger than his party, and I shall vote for him because I believe him to be Ohio's leading representative in Washington.' "Finally, Senator Pomerene will be reelected because of his unparalleled record of constructive statesmanship. No other man who has represented Ohio in the halls of Congress, and there have been some able ones, ever had his name permanently identified with so much legislation of a constructive nature. One cannot think about Senator Pomerene in legislative terms without involuntarily recalling the Federal Reserve Act, the Federal Farm Loan Act, the Federal Trade Commission Act, the Bill of Lading Act, the Export Trade Law, the Good Roads legislation, the Federal Tariff Commission, the Clayton Anti-trust Act, the Act creating a Department of Labor and the Children's Bureau, the amendment providing for the election of United States senators by the people, the Income Tax Amendment, and many others of lesser importance, all of which taken collectively have marked the most progressive period in our legislative history."

Ashland Kittens Are Coming

While P. H. S. boys are away from home tomorrow night, the P. H. S. girls will occupy the P. H. S. gym with the Ashland high school girls as their opponents. The Ashland Kittens, champions of Kentucky state last year, are out to win the same laurels again this year. The Kittens lost only one player by graduation last year and this year her place has been well filled and the team has been winning regularly. Not a defeat has been suffered by the Ashland girls this season and they fully expect to finish the season the same way.

The Ashland girls played their first game on Thanksgiving Day with New Boston high school girls. They have played a game or two every week since then, which shows they have not had a weak schedule. Game will start at 8.

He is to report to Manager Pat Moran when the club returns from the south in April.

RUTH LIKES TO TAKE HIS FULL SWING; PITCHERS FEED HIM BAD BALLS TO FOOL HIM

Walter Johnson Tells About Demon Sluggers Only Weakness

BY WALTER JOHNSON
(How do I pitch to Babe Ruth?)

Well, that is the toughest one yet.

I never pitch exactly the same to Ruth, except in one way, I am always trying to make him hit a bad ball.

There are a lot of pitchers in the American League who insist that Ruth has certain weaknesses at the bat. Perhaps he has, but when pitching to Ruth I never work along that theory.

When the big fellow steps into the box with that murderous club of his, I just say to myself, "Well, here is Babe, give him everything you have and trust to luck." Then I proceed to slip him my very best ball and closest curve.

When sitting on the bench, I have always watched carefully the methods that the other pitchers on our staff use against Ruth, and how successful they are.

Sometimes a slow curve, broken outside and low, makes it very annoying for Babe. George Mogridge often uses that style ball with great success.

However, if Mogridge happens to slip up on his control, and get the curve inside, then it is doubtful that Babe can hit a curve ball inside, further than any man in the game.

A fast ball high, and outside, often troubles him. Such a ball makes him hit to left field, and keeps him from getting the full benefit of his swing.

It is mighty dangerous, though, to get the fast one over or inside. Since a pitcher can't always control the ball, such things often happen.

Then again some days he hits any kind of pitching you serve him. Undoubtedly there are certain styles of pitching that Ruth likes better than others, but a pitcher is foolish to figure a batter who can make 20 home runs in a season as having any decided weakness.

My motto is, give him all you have, and try your very best to make him swing at bad balls, which is often possible because of his great desire to hit.

Tomorrow Johnson will explain why so few pitchers are good hitters.

RAPS RECRUITING OF HIGH SCHOOL STARS

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—Recruiting of high school athletic stars by alumni of various universities is the real cause of professionalism in college sports.

Professor J. H. French, of Ohio State university and president of the Western Conference said today in a statement to the Associated Press, discussing the recent athletic scandals in midwestern schools.

"This proselyting of college athletes through the recruiting of high school stars by the alumni of the various universities is a growing evil that is causing more concern to the authorities of the Western Conference schools than the financial temptation to college players to join the ranks of the professionals," he said.

Professor French said the matter had been discussed at meetings of Big Ten officials and that it undoubtedly would be taken up again at the next meeting of the conference in June at Iowa City, Iowa.

Alonzo A. Stagg, athletic director at the University of Chicago, and president of the Western Conference Athletic Directors, has announced that the directors will meet at an early date to discuss high school recruiting.

While declaring that he believed the present athletic rules and the attitude of the public were sufficient to combat professionalism in sports in Big Ten schools, Professor French said the establishment of college conferences in all parts of the country, together with the promulgation of strict sport rules by these conferences would do more than any other thing to purify college sport in general.

"There is no doubt," said Professor French, "but that some high school boys of exceptional athletic ability are being paid to attend certain schools in order to play some sport."

"In such cases graduate or groups of alumni generally pay the expenses of high school stars. Several alumni may chip in a certain amount to send a good athletic prospect to their school. This is the worst form of proselyting and the thing we are trying hardest to break up."

"Whenever we find a boy who has been sent to school on a 'pot' made

The Doughboys came back strong in the second, however, and won it 21-12.

Wood and Hunter starred for the Bakers, Adams doing some flashy work in making a run of 14 in serving, and his work featured the first game.

Saturday: Selby Cubs vs. Selby Leaders at 1:15 p. m.

Three most desperately fought battles were staged last night between the Phi Psi and the game, but Selby Selby, who had both Roger Selby and Eddie Rock out of the lineup. Grippled as they were the Cubs won the first game 21-17. They took a long lead in the second, but the Phi Psi overtook, passed them and won out, 21-14. All the team was playing well, but Selby was passing beautifully to Pearce, and Pearce was making a serve of 7. The rubber was a terrific struggle.

Grippling pulled off his sweater and jumped into the game with renewed vigor. Lorey starred at killing while Grib did splendid field work, and when the dust had lifted the Cubs had won 21-15.

Friday: Cheniers vs. Standard Supply.

Saturday: Seventy Six vs. Times at 1:30; Burroughs vs. Underwoods at 2:30.

Putting on the strongest lineup they have ever mustered, the N. and W. lightened the race up considerably last night. There was some question as to the eligibility of one of their players, but the Seventy Six, in a most sportsmanlike spirit, waived all objections they might have raised, and told the N. and W. captain to go ahead and play him.

The game started out up and tuck, with the Seventy Six leading up to the final stage when the N. and W. put on a spurt and won out. They also took the second and third games, the Seventy Six having lost their team play. Earl Rheinhardt was the star for the N. and W., his good work filling them with pep. Gordley killed the ball and Broadbeck starred at field work. H. K. Moore was the all-around star for the Seventy Six, while Peel did the killing.

JAPAN'S CURIOUS SHRINKING

INDIVIDUALS generally agree with Goldsmith that "handsome is that handsome does" and let no considerations of pride obscure their virtues. With governments it is different, as has been observed by those who have followed proceedings of the Limitation of Armaments Conference at Washington. Not one whit less meritorious is the sacrifice of warcraft which Japan and France make in the interests of world peace than is that made by Great Britain, Italy and the United States, yet a curiously perverted pride cherished by the twin first threatened to thwart the limitation program and then prevented the frankest possible statement of what each one accepts, in promotion of the common well-being.

France was reluctant to agree to the ratio of capital ship strength assigned her in the Hughes schedule because it seemed to lower her rating among the Powers of the world. Happily her objections were overcome, as were those of the Japanese. Though neither of them can, while the agreement remains operative rise to equality of naval armament with Britain and America, each has attained to the stature of the greatest in public esteem as a contribution to the welfare of all. Considering the prestige thus gained it is not remarkable that one of the sacrificing nations should prefer that the "soft pedal" be put on its well-doing? Japanese sensibilities are such that in the naval limitation treaty there is to be categorical statement of the capital ship ratios of the contracting parties. The truth is not to be concealed, but it is not to be stated in terms that would do honor rather than the reverse to Japan.

Limitation of naval armaments as provided in the agreement that is being put into shape for signature is substantial proof of the sincerity of national assertions that sinister designs were not nurtured. It should dissipate suspicions, which ever have been menacing to peace. Therefore, the more one country does in promotion of the better feeling the greater it becomes. Japan will get full credit for her good deeds. Why not let them be blazoned in the treaty?

"LOPSIDED" CITIES

A movement is under way in the Middle West to restore economic equilibrium by doing away with "lopsided" cities. By this is meant cities which do not have a diversity of industries, but have, so to speak, all of their eggs in one basket, and so are sadly depressed when anything troublesome happens to that particular basket. Chambers of Commerce and the railroads are being asked to do what they can to change this condition.

There is an unfortunate tendency in many American communities to concentrate on a single industry. The consequence is that a blow to that industry will hurt the whole community, whereas if its activities were more widely diversified part of the community would not be affected.

The South has suffered grievously from this tendency. Putting all of its efforts into the raising of cotton, and buying in the West that meat and grain which it could just as well raise itself, Dixie has been prostrated when the cotton crop was a failure. If it had diversified its crop, planting more wheat and raising some live stock, it would not be hit so hard when cotton did not do well.

The same sort of thing manifests itself in cities. One devotes all of its attention to the manufacture of rubber articles, and when a slump occurred in that business last year there was an exodus of a large part of its population, because there was not much else there to maintain prosperity. Another city concentrates on the manufacture of linen collars, a third on pottery, and so forth.

Now it is not to be expected that there shall not be a dominating industry in our cities; but on the other hand it is not desirable that they should be "lopsided." If there is only one important industry, when it shuts down the whole population is idle. As a result the stores become embarrassed and a serious situation results. If there were other industries to keep some sort of business going on, the utter stagnation which leads to paralysis of the whole community would be prevented.

The problem of relieving the "lopsidedness" of cities involves finding out what industries can profitably be located in them. It is to this that a conference soon to be held will address itself.

Too much money and too few morals appear to be causing most of the trouble in the movie world.

POLLY AND HER PALS

New York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, February 10.—Thoughts while strolling around New York: Eight a. m. along Millionaire's Row. Petit déjeuner. A center around the park. The cigar in a well filled library. Why was I picked for this? A grimy coal heaver whistling at work. Sleepy club servants leeching the daily grind. Cross town cars hung with workers. Sandy haired keepies in baggy English clothes. Waiting the arrival of a British duke. There's always something mysterious about a spiral stair. A wounded sparrow fluttering in the roadway. Vibrantly healthy shop girls with the luster of a sea wet shell. A servant swings open a door and bows out an adolescent. Probably on his way shopping for polo mallets.

Prim governesses with curly haired charges. A rattle-mallet scans the gutter for variant snipes. Window washers can find more things to talk about. Wonder if any one has a charge account at the avenue five and ten cent store. Norman Trevor and his lemon coloured gloves.

Depot taxis piled high with luggage—formerly baggage. Roving Victoria drivers with burnt-out expressions. Something electrifying about a big railroad terminal. Romance scurries along with the red capped porters. The restaurants and lunch-rooms are somehow different. Muzzled dogs wondering what it is all about.

There's the cat's cuff—a purple fur drier. Atta boy! Hooded kindling women trailing their dreary way. Children dancing in the icy gutters to the tune of a wheezy phonograph. All the opera singers are quitting in a huff. Too proud to sing. I'd trade one good aria right now for a bowl of piping hot bean soup.

Some of the most worth while poetry is written in New York newspaper shops by men who are fighting against edition time. Will Irwin wrote "The City That Was" between editions during the San Francisco earthquake. It was a newspaper classic. John Kendrick Bangs used to say he could lock himself in a room for an hour and think of 25 salable jokes. Berton Braley has written much sprightly verse waiting for his turn in a Kelly pool game. Today I attended a luncheon where a soulful Hindoo poet said writers must go to the hills—far from the "crowds" to do real work.

Among the down and outers dish-washing jobs are known as "pearl diving." On Sixth Avenue where most of the employment agencies are located, there are hundreds of dish washing jobs but no takers. The agents say that while the pay is good men consider it the lowest of occupations and will only take such jobs when starving.
